TO KEEP THE MOTHS OUT, Is what every housewife tries to do when putting away Woollen Clothes, Blankets, Furs, &c., for the Summer, and until recently Camphor was considered the best preservative, but a more effectual and cheaper agent is NAPHTHALIN. A few pieces placed in between the folds of Woollens when packed away will be found to be a perfect preservative against moths and grobs of all kinds.

If Books be kept in closed cases with some pieces of Naphthalin scattered about, the bindings will be effectually preserved egainst cockroaches.

to the present state of electrical science, and indulged in some remarkable speculations. Little is known concerning this mighty agency. Some regard it as a kind of matter, others as a form of energy, while others still reject both views. It has been computed that in a single cubic foot of the other which fills all space there are looked up 10,000 foot-tons of energy which have hitherto escaped notice, and the latest researches give the well-founded hope that this vast store-house of power is not hopelessly inaccessible. We ON BOMBAY.may not unreasonably expect in the future to see. our rooms lighted by electricity without the use of wires. It further appears that a true flame -yielding light and heat without the consumption of material—may be produced without chemical aid, and the question is asked whether the conditions necessary for its practical application can be obtained by tapping the ether. If so, the exhaustion of the coal-fields may be viewed with indifference. The discovery of the varying vibrations ranging from wave-lengths of thousands of miles down to a few feet-also reveals the bewildering possibility of telegraphy without wires, posts, cables, or any of our present costly appliances. It is vain to picture the marvels of the future; and progress, as Dean Swift observed, may be too fast for endurance.

NOW ON SALE. IMPERIAL QUARTO, WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in estenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises Chingping, British str., 525, Crowlie, Dec. 27, the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography Contest, British bark, 486, Soderman, Jan. I. Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of Morris & Co space, achieving a clearness not previously El Dorado, British str., S93, Payne, Jan. 24, Pigmy, gunbout, 6 guns, 1,200 h.m., Lieut.-Com.

following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Feilung, British str., 750, Ballard, Dec. 13, Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst Feima, German str., 670, Loak, Dec. 21, S. M. words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Enropeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties, resident in England and interested China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It comprises upwards of two thousand large Kiangping, British str., 892, Holmes, Dec. 23, quarto pages.
